

Wolsink et al. DUAL COGNITIVE PATHWAYS TO VOICE QUALITY. Extended methods experimental designs ↗

Inge Wolsink¹

¹University of Amsterdam

Sep 21, 2018 dx.doi.org/10.17504/protocols.io.tubensn

Inge Wolsink

Working

ABSTRACT

These laboratory protocols contain more detailed information on the experimental methods of study 1 and 2 of the paper Dual Pathways to Voice Quality.

The paper investigates the involvement of Working Memory Capacity (WMC, the cognitive resource necessary for controlled elaborate thinking) in voice behavior (speaking up with suggestions, problems, and opinions to change the organization).

The methods are designed to capture voice behavior in the laboratory.

TAGS

Experiment

Voice

Show tags

EXTERNAL LINK

<https://psyarxiv.com/u8y5k/>

THIS PROTOCOL ACCOMPANIES THE FOLLOWING PUBLICATION

Wolsink I, Den Hartog DN, Belschak FD, and Sligte IG, Under review at PlosOne

LAB PROTOCOLS
Wolsink et al (study 1 &
2).pdf

PROTOCOL STATUS

Working

We use this protocol in our group and it is working

This is an open access protocol distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution License, which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original author and source are credited